

The second Part of Henry the Sixt, with the death of the Good Duke HVMFREY.

Actus Primus. Scœna Prima.

Flourish of Trumpets : Then Hoboyes.

Enter King, Duke Humfrey, Salisbury, Warwicke, and Bedford on the one side.
The Queene, Suffolke, Yorke, Somerset, and Buckingham, on the other.

Suffolke.
S by your high Imperiall Maiesty,
I had in charge at my depart for France,
As Procurator to your Excellence,
To marry Princes Margarete for your Grace;
So in the Famous Ancient City, Towres,
In presence of the Kings of France, and Sicill,
The Dukes of Orleans, Calaber, Britaigne, and Alanson,
Seuen Earles, twelue Barons, & twenty reuerend Bishops
I haue perform'd my Taske, and was espous'd,
And humbly now vpon my bended knee,
In sight of England, and her Lordly Peeres,
Deliver vp my Title in the Queene
To your most gracious hands, that are the Substance
Of that great Shadow I did represent:
The happiest Gift, that euer Marquesse gaue,
The Fairest Queene, that euer King receiud.

King. Suffolke arise. Welcome Queene Margarete,
I can expresse no kinder signe of Loue
Then this kinde kisse: O Lord, that lends me life,
Lend me a heart replete with thankfulness:
For thou hast given me in this beauteous Face
A world of earthly blessings to my soule,
If Simpathy of Loue vnite our thoughts.
Queene. Great King of England, & my gracious Lord,
The mutuall conference that my minde hath had,
By day, by night; waking, and in my dreames,
In Courtly company, or at my Beades,
With you mine Alder liefest Soueraigne,
Makes me the bolder to salute my King,
With ruder termes, such as my wit affords,
And ouer ioy of heart doth minister.

King. Her sight did rauish, but her grace in Speech,
Her words yclad with wisdomes Maiesty,
Makes me from Wondring, fall to Weeping ioyes,
Such is the Fulnesse of my hearts content.

Lords, with one cherefull voice, Welcome my Loue.
All kneel. Long liue Qu. Margarete, Englands happines.
Queene. We thanke you all.

Suf. My Lord Protector, so it please your Grace,
Heere are the Articles of contracted peace,
Betweene our Soueraigne, and the French King Charles.
For eightene moneths concluded by consent.

Some sodaine qualme hath stricke me at the heart,
And dim'd mine eyes; that I can read no further.

Win. Vnkle of Winchester, I pray read on.
Win. Item, It is further agreed betweene them, That the

Exit King, Queene, and Suffolke.

Manet the rest.

Glo. Braue Peeres of England, Pillars of the State,
To you Duke Humfrey must vnload his griefe:
Your griefe, the common griefe of all the Land,
What? did my brother Henry spend his youth,
His valour, coine, and people in the warres?
Did he so often lodge in open field:
In Winters cold, and Summers parching heate,
To conquer France, his true inheritance?
And did my brother Bedford toyle his wits,

The second Part of Henry the

To keepe by policy what Henrie got:
Haue you your felues, Somerset, Buckingham,
Braue Yorke, Salisbury, and victorious Warwicke,
Receiud deepe scars in France and Normandie:
Or hath mine Vnkle Bedford, and my selfe,
With all the Learned Councell of the Realme,
Studied so long, sat in the Councell house,
Early and late, debating too and fro
How France and Frenchmen might be kept in awe,
And hath his Highnesse in his infancie,
Crowned in Paris in despite of foes,
And shall these Labours, and these Honours dye?
Shall Henries Conquest, Bedfords vigilance,
Your Deeds of Warre, and all our Councell dye?
O Peeres of England, shamefull is this League,
Fatal this Marriage, cancelling your Fame,
Blotting your names from Bookes of memory,
Racing the Charraeters of your Renowne,
Defacing Monuments of Conquer'd France,
Vndoing all as all had neuer bin.

Car. Nephew, what means this passionate discourse?

This preroration with such circumstance:

For France, 'tis ours; and we will keepe it still.

Glo. I Vnkle, we will keepe it, if we can:

But now it is impossible we should.

Suffolke, the new made Duke that rules the roost,
Hath giuen the Duchy of Anion and Maine,
Vnto the poore King Reigner, whose large style
Agrees not with the leanness of his purse.

Sal. Now by the death of him that dyed for all,

These Counties were the Keyes of Normandie:

But wherefore weepes Warwicke, my valiant sonne?

War. For griefe that they are past recoverie.

For were there hope to conquer them againe,

My sword should shed hot blood, mine eyes no teares.

Anion and Maine? My selfe did win them both:

Those Prouinces, these Armes of mine did conquer,

And are the Citties that I got with wounds,

Deliu'd vp againe with peacefull words?

Mort. Dies.

Yorke. For Suffolkes Duke, may he be suffocate,

That dims the Honor of this Warlike Isle:

France should haue torne and rent my very hart,

Before I would haue yeelded to this League.

I neuer read but Englands Kings haue had

Large summes of Gold, and Dowries with their wiues,

And our King Henry giues away his owne,

To match with her that brings no vantages.

Hum. A proper iest, and neuer heard before,

That Suffolke should demand a whole Fifteenth,

For Costs and Charges in transporting her:

She should haue staid in France, and steru'd in France

Before—

Car. My Lord of Gloster, now ye grow too hot,

It was the pleasure of my Lord the King,

Hum. My Lord of Winchester I know your minde.

'Tis not my speeches that you do mislike:

But 'tis my presence that doth trouble ye,

Rancour will out, proud Prelate, in thy face.

I see thy furie: If I longer stay,

We shall begin our ancient bickerings:

Lordings farewell, and say when I am gone,

I prophesied, France will be lost ere long. Exit Humfrey.

Car. So, there goes our Protector in a rage:

'Tis knowne to you he is mine enemy:

Nay more, an enemy vnto you all,

And no gre
